Norfolk DigiFest 2020

Join us to get hands-on with a host of new and inspiring tech, enabling children to try their hand at 3D creation, building racing inchworm robots, writing choose-your-own adventures – and much more. With workshops for children and young people aged 4-14 there is something to inspire every family. All events are free – but spaces are limited, so book your place in advance. Ask at your local library or email libraries.iconnect@norfolk.gov.uk All children under 8 must be accompanied by an adult.

Fun with Codeapillar

Join us for a story time with a difference: meet Codeapillar and learn some early coding skills. Perfect for young digital explorers aged 4-6. King's Lynn Library - 17 February 11.30-12.15pm

Code your own racing inchworm

Code and craft your own brilliant racing inchworm. Join us to get hands on with batteries and motors: a great first experience of robotics. Best for children aged 8-11: no previous experience required.

Downham Market Library - 19 February, 5-6.30pm

Robot coding mayhem

Join us for an hour of races, team games and battles featuring brilliant, light up, indestructible codeable robots. Best for children aged 9-13. No coding experience necessary. Event run in partnership with Educator Solutions. King's Lynn Library - 19 February, 11.15am - 12.15pm - Limited spaces remaining

Coding with kittens

Join us for some gaming fun, a very silly introduction to html coding and meet some adorable digital kittens along the way. Best for children aged 9-12, no experience of coding necessary.

Gaywood Library - 21 February, 11.30am-12.30pm

Downham Market Library - 21 February, 5-6pm

Choose your own adventure

Zombies, pirates or unicorns, how will your adventure unfold? Write and code the interactive choose-your-own adventure of your dreams. Best for children aged 9-12. Hunstanton Library - 19 February, 1-2.30pm

Inclusive events for families of children with additional needs

We're working with SENsational Families to provide some additional sessions which are exclusively for families of children with additional needs. Of course, all families are welcome at all DigiFest sessions, and we are offering these extra sessions to give families of children with additional needs extra choice. You're welcome to bring siblings along, and we'd ask you to stay with your children in the library. All of the sessions (except at Sheringham Library) are in separate spaces away from the main library, noise isn't a problem! You can book these sessions in your local library or by emailing iconnect@norfolk.gov.uk The ages ranges that we have suggested are a guide, you know your child best - please book the sessions you think they would enjoy.

You can find more information on everything that is happening for digifest at www.norfolk.gov.uk/digifest

Coder Robot: meet Botley

Your chance to get hands-on with a real robot Can you code fast enough to capture the aliens and avoid the asteroids? Recommended for children aged 6-9 – no coding experience required. The session involves a robot which makes some soft but unpredictable noises, working in teams and turn-taking. Gaywood Library - Saturday 22 February, 3.15-4.45 pm

Stop Motion Film making

Try your hand at stop motion film making. Make your own amazing Lego film. Recommended for children aged 8-11. No experience needed: Beginners welcome. The session uses the camera function on an iPad, Lego, and cutting out some paper shapes with scissors. Gaywood Library - Saturday 22 February, 1.15-2.45pm
